

Temperance Column.

EDITED BY J. W. RICE.

I have always intended to take up this subject in a manner more comprehensive than I have been able to do as yet, but finding an article with this title, prepared by Louis E. P. Kimball, I feel that I can benefit the cause as much, or more, by taking this as the subject in all its bearings, every point being touched upon, yet not in an exhaustive manner, for when nothing more can be said of the temperance work in any one of its many fields of labor, I commend this subject to the careful consideration of temperance workers all over our land, believing that our most successful field of labor is with the youth of our land, as we find them in the Sunday school, or if not found there, should be induced to come there as soon as possible. A soul saved from sin is just as precious in the sight of the Master, if found in Ohio, as though it were in China or India. I am not opposing foreign missionary work, but only ask that all the effective gospel temperance work that can be done at home by all those who are not called to go abroad, should be done, and then I have no fears but that the temperance cause will be glorious beyond our expectations.

On account of the length of the article alluded to, it has been necessarily omitted this week, but will be printed next week, unless the editor of the temperance column shall make other arrangements. We would thank our friend Sims if his column could be kept with one column, and also if the matter for it could be mailed soon enough to reach us on Monday morning.

Eds. Td.—Ohio has followed in the wake of New Jersey, and the local option law has been defeated, but the closeness with which it passed through the halls of legislation gives hope and courage to the friends of temperance, and instead of faltering in the great struggle for human redemption, they should take new courage and renew the battle with increased vigor. The cause is rapidly gaining strength, and it only remains for us to prolong the struggle and the desired end will be attained at no distant day. One impediment to the progress of temperance is the bold, rash, reckless spirit with which many of the friends of temperance seek to press their claims upon society. The age in which we live requires calm, sober thought, and to bring public sentiment to the true standard for action is a task that not only requires time and forethought, but concert of action by all advocates of reform throughout our land. There was never a time in our recollection when the subject of temperance was brought to bear upon the public mind in its true light, as at the present time, and with the present aids in this great work, it is evident to all intelligent people that a change will soon take place that will place the human family upon a higher standard of morality than was ever experienced by the American people during the past ages. Hitherto the balance of power has been upon the evil side, and those that advocated the subject of temperance were in the minority, but after a long and weary struggle to gain the ascendancy, they have gained the summit, and with the subject placed before the American people in its true light are sure of certain and sure victory "if they faint not," and continue the struggle.

For years past, our temperance has been distinguished by what we call love of excitement, and to be stimulated, excited, is the universal want of the American people. That calmness and sobriety which characterized our forefathers, that led them to habits of industry, has been succeeded by a feverish restlessness; the books that have been read are not the great standard works of genius which require calm, sober thought, and in all of its details, the excitement of great risks and the hope of great profits. Notwithstanding the fact that many are so engrossed in the things of a worldly nature as to forget their responsibility to God and their fellow beings. It is also a fact that thousands have become thoroughly awakened to the responsibilities that rest upon them, and are exerting every means in their power to rescue their fellow mortals from this terrible curse.

The subject of temperance is now viewed from different standpoints than ever before, and in all of its details, the influence upon the human race, and the more it is investigated the greater the curse appears, and the greater the desire for its ultimate overthrow.

Richmond, May 10, 1880.

Ohio Republican Convention.

Hon. W. M. Bateman, of Cincinnati, from the Committee of Resolutions reported the following platform:

Resolved, That we reaffirm the principles enunciated in the resolutions adopted by the last Republican National Convention.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the extension of the system of free public schools throughout the whole country, supported by general taxation, except from sectarian influences, open to every child of proper age; and to that end, we are in favor of all appropriate and constitutional legislation.

Resolved, That we are in favor of a full protection by the National Government of every citizen of the United States, native or naturalized, as well within as without our territorial limits, in the exercise of every right conferred upon him by its Constitution and laws, and against every infringement of such right, in what ever way, or by whosever committed, and for the purpose of affording such protection the whole power of the Government should be used.

Resolved, That it is the duty of the National Government to protect the election of the Representatives in Congress from fraud and violence, and we condemn the attempts of the Democratic party to nullify or repeal existing laws on this subject as unpatriotic and calculated to encourage and foster fraud.

Resolved, That we are in favor of the maintenance of a sound currency, based upon coin or upon notes redeemable in coin, and the secret observation of the public faith against all trait or suspicion of evasion or repudiation.

Resolved, That we congratulate the country upon the resumption of specie payments, now assured and permanent, as the fruits of Republican policy and the splendid achievement of Republican administration; and we likewise congratulate the country upon the general revival of business and industry, secured as they are by the soundness and most convenient currency and the wisest financial policy the country ever enjoyed.

Resolved, That the great ability, invaluable services, long experience, pure and exalted character, and unswerving fidelity to Republican principles of our distinguished fellow citizen, John Sherman, entitles him to the highest honors and confidence of the Republican party of Ohio and of the country. His matchless skill and courage as a financier has mainly contributed to accomplish the invaluable and difficult work of resumption and refunding the public debt, and made him the trusted representative in public life of the business interests of all classes of the American people. He has been faithful from the beginning of his public life in advocacy of the rights of man, and no man has been more unflinching in his demand that the whole power of the Government should be used to protect the colored people of the South from unlawful violence and unfriendly local legislation. And in view of his services to his country, and his eminent ability as a statesman, we, the Republican party of Ohio, present him to the Republican party of the country as a fit candidate for President, and respectfully urge upon the Republican Convention at Chicago, his nomination.

Resolved, That the delegates-at-large chosen by this convention are hereby instructed to vote for, and to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of John Sherman by the National Republican Convention at Chicago for President, and the district delegates are respectfully requested to vote for him.

Resolved, That we cordially endorse the administration of President Hayes in maintaining the legislation, principles and purposes of the Republican party, designed as they are to secure the nomination of John Sherman by the National Republican Convention at Chicago for President, and the district delegates are respectfully requested to vote for him.

She Renewed.

One of the sanitary police was the other day wandering over a box full of dead cats in an alley off Seventh street, when he heard yells and the sounds of conflict nearby. As he entered the yard a man and woman burst open the side door and rolled down the steps in a heap, kicking and screaming with right good will.

"What is the trouble here?" asked the officer as he pulled them apart.

"There, I'm glad you happened along," exclaimed the man as he jumped up.

"What's the matter?" asked the officer.

"Just what I said—just the date I had!" cried the husband as he danced around.

"Now then, old woman, will you give up?" "Never!"

"You won't!" "Not a word!" I said 1490, and I had your neck across the edge of the step. We agreed not to bite or scratch, and I prefer to renew the conflict rather than take a stranger's figures. Come into the house!"

The officer waited at the gate until he heard two chairs smashed down and a dozen yells, and he resumed his rounds with a growing conviction that Columbus would ultimately be two years ahead in that house.—Detroit Free Press.

L. S. & M. S. ELKORTS.—The voting resulted in the election of the following Board of Directors:

William H. Vanderbilt, New York; Cornelius Vanderbilt, New York; William K. Vanderbilt, New York; Samuel F. Barger, New York; Augustus Schell, New York; John E. Burrill, New York; Darius O. Mills, New York; Amasa Stone, Cleveland; O. Henry B. Payne, Cleveland; O. William L. Scott, Erie, Pa.; Charles M. Reed, Erie, Pa.; Eusebio Brown, Warren, Pa.; Albert Kepp, Chicago, Ill.

All the old officers were re-elected, as follows:

Killing Themselves with Work.

Many a husband has said, "Don't ask my wife to do anything for the church, or the missionary society, or the temperance cause, she has enough to do at home—she is killing herself with work as it is," and he tells the truth.

If the husband would look a little closer into matters he would find that his wife was killing herself with ever work that was ruining his children, cursing the world, and blighting the church; that she was sacrificing all to fashion and show.

Months and years ago, and year after year, the worldly women of the church toil on for the personal adornment of their bodies and their children till heart and flesh fail, and an untimely grave opens and they out of our sight. "Matters to fashion" would be the most truthful and fitting epitaph that could be put upon their tombstones.

Many a professedly Christian mother has wrapped her cherished infant in emeralds, rubies and diamonds, into which her child's life-blood has been stitched.

In many a professedly Christian home the first lesson a child learns is how to dress in the prevailing style. It leaves its child admiring its fine clothes, and suffers hours of torture with curling-papers and crimping-pins before it has learned to say, "Now I lay me down to sleep."

It is not surprising that the tender twig bent worldward from the very first, should turn from the church to the opera, the theatre, and the ball-room.

When we look about we are grieved to find that so few of the young men and women reared in the church are loving, working Christians.

The practice which prevails to some extent in the rural districts, of instructing delegates how to vote in District, State and National Conventions, has no little to commend it, and is subject to such serious objections that nothing would be lost if it should be totally abandoned. No man is fit to be chosen for any public trust who is not in sympathy with his constituents, or in whose judgment they cannot repose confidence. But no man can tell in advance just what will be most wise or desirable under all the circumstances when the time for action comes. Possibly the instructors themselves might then have changed their minds, while the poor, helpless delegates, with hands tied, could only obey his unfortunate instructions. It sometimes happens that delegates will find themselves in convention unable to accept the candidate most acceptable to their constituents, simply because, without knowing his sentiments, or even the fact that his name would be presented, they had instructed otherwise. All this can be avoided by simply omitting the superfluous instructions.—Chicago Rep.

A Democrat Cured.

A leading democrat of Burlington, Mr. E. M. Sutton, speaks in the highest terms of the curative power of Dr. Chamberlain's Kidney and Bladder Remedy. He first cured him of a distressing kidney disease, and he now uses whenever he has any symptoms of biliousness or needs toning up. It acts effectually on the bowels, and cures the worst cases of piles.

He coughed! he coughed! His eyes ran, he looked ruddy in the face than a lobster. But "Sellers' Cough Syrup" cured him.

Walking made very easy with Lyon's Heel Stiffeners; they keep your boots and shoes straight.
